

Publication Database of University of Miskolc

Our lecture introduces the new developed Publication Database of University of Miskolc, which is in state of testing and filling up. We would like to describe the needs, causes of starting of this new service, and its documents and data. We would like to speak about the problems, which show themselves, our hopes about usefulness of this service and the potentials of developing.