

How important is the access to scientific literature in the research process? Elsevier would like to share its vision by presenting the "running shoe" theory, and to show a few best practices in the rapidly growing digital scientific world. Furthermore, Hungary's scientific output will also be compared and analyzed.